UNITY CHURCH-UNITARIAN

August 2009

Unity On the Verge

from Carol Bauer, Chair

Can you see it? Can you feel it? Unity is a congregation “on the verge.” Every Sunday there are new faces. Young families are finding us and the bundle of “wild babies” that we welcome each month is growing. There is an energy and joy that is palpable!

It’s no accident. Through programs like Wellspring Wednesday, Saturday pancake breakfasts and our outreach ministries, people are discovering Unity Church and liking what they see—a radically hospitable, welcoming faith tradition where people can have a meaningful worship experience, nurture their own spiritual growth and education, think for themselves, provide a spiritual foundation for their children that is consistent with their values, and create beloved community with others who wish to live lives of integrity, service and joy.

I believe this is a golden moment for liberal religion. I believe Unity Church is a shining light in our community and that we are on the verge of new and unprecedented growth. This will present many challenges and it may take us in new directions not yet fully imagined. If you want a front row seat, I’d like to invite you to consider service on Unity’s Board of Trustees. This group of people, working in concert with our talented executive team, will ensure that the church that we are “becoming” is the church that reflects your hopes, dreams and values. Help to shape the future of our church, our community, and Unitarian Universalism. Join us!

Shape the Future: Consider Serving on the Board of Trustees

Serving on the Board is a great way to be meaningfully engaged in the life and mission of Unity Church-Unitarian, and it’s an opportunity to develop strong relationships with the Executive Team, fellow Board members and the broader community. In the coming weeks the Trustee Nominating Team will interview candidates for the three Trustee positions whose terms begin at the November 2009 Annual Meeting of the congregation.

Trustees serve three-year terms and you’ll find Board service most rewarding and engaging if you have skills, experience and/or passion for some or all of the following:

Leadership and Strategic Planning
Relationship Building and Organizational Development
Governance (especially Policy Governance)
Financial Management and Fundraising

Serving on the Board is an important and impactful way to live out your values while helping to maintain and grow a strong organizational foundation that can support and sustain this vibrant community. Please contact Zack Steven at 612-869-9794 or zack.steven@buythechange.com to express your interest, or to recommend someone else as a candidate for the Board. Additional details will follow in next month’s commUNITY.

AUGUST SUNDAY WORSHIP / WHEEL OF LIFE

August Calendar • Sunday Worship is at 10:00 a.m.

August 2

No Such Thing As 'Away'* — Kerri Meyer

It's a small world. Our tendency to shuffle life's debris around rather than confront the mess is not without its consequences. From the broken toasters in the city landfill to the children in our broken foster care system, worship leader Kerri Meyer and Worship Associate Steve Harper explore the geography of human responsibility. Musician: Sunita Stanislow, harp.

August 9

The Surprise Catch of the Day* — Karen Hering

When we tie our words together as if making nets large or small, what is it that we hope to catch? What is the power of poetry and story, of naming and metaphor, to catch or to carry that which is beyond words? How do we use these tools of language in matters of faith? Musician: Kristin Sponcia, jazz piano.

August 16

Defying Gravity* — Jenny Wilson

In his book A Path with Heart, Buddhist teacher Jack Kornfield writes, "...it is not by moving rocks that we find happiness and awakening, but by transforming our relationship with them." When we suffer, it is often because we are defining ourselves by a life story that we have come to believe as absolute truth. We define ourselves by this narrative because in many ways it is easier than the work that is required to create a new story. Changing our story requires a faith that many of us as religious liberals struggle to define. How do we do the hard work of transformation when we may not have faith in a higher power? Where is our source of comfort? Join Jenny Wilson and Worship Associate Katy Taylor as they explore the role of faith in developing a new narrative that can offer healing and hope. Musician: Michael Davis, flute.

August 23

This I Believe: Holding Onto Doubt* — Richard Foushée

During the past year I have struggled with two of the central issues of religion. Join in the exploration and personal reflections on faith and doubt and what they mean to our lives. Musician: Johanna Lester, piano.

August 30

The Stories We Tell* — Ashley Horan

Ralph Waldo Emerson once said that our real sacred text is "...life passed through the fire of thought." In other words, we find the holy when we share and process our stories with each other. This Sunday, we will explore the ways storytelling and storyhearing let us cross barriers of difference and allow us to meet each other in our deepest humanity. Musicians: Aka P (Bob Ruud, guitar; Doug Petty, bass; and Bailey Taylor, vocals).

September 6

She Works Hard for the Money (And You Better Treat Her Right)* — Dane Smith

Labor advocates and spiritual progressives have found common cause for a century and a half in Minnesota and the nation. The righteousness of all God's children getting fair recompense and enjoying the fruit of their labor is foundational for the Judeo-Christian tradition, and others too. After decades of progress earlier in the 20th century for working people, Labor Day 2009 finds us at low ebb. Union membership has declined sharply over the last 30 years and middle- and lower-income households now have a smaller share of total income than they've had since the Depression. But there's new hope and energy rising, and a growing understanding among business leaders that we must obey Donna Summers' message in her hard-driving 1983 anthem for working women (and men): We'd better treat them right. Musicians: Rochelle Lockridge and Rod Kinny, guitar and vocals.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH MINISTRY

August Offering Recipients

August 2 — Hamm Clinic

Founded by the Hamm Foundation, the Hamm Clinic has served as a premier mental health clinic for over 50 years. Its mission is to provide quality culturally competent mental health care for adults in our community, particularly the underserved. It also provides expert training for mental health professionals, and outreach and education to the broader community. Unity Church member, Liz Curran, nominated Hamm Clinic based on her excellent experiences with this organization.

August 9 — Rainbow Rumpus

Rainbow Rumpus is an online magazine for children with LGBT parents, teachers and friends and attracts visitors from all over the country. It features excellent writing, illustrations, cartoons, music and video by professional artists and children themselves. Children also write to each other to create a welcoming online community. Unity members Mike Huber and Mary Jo Nikolai have been involved with Rainbow Rumpus since its beginnings in 2005. Materials and resources from the magazine are used in the Unity Church School curriculum.

August 16 — Vision Loss Resources

Vision Loss Resources serves the visually and hearing impaired throughout Minnesota. The over one thousand new referrals last year raised the number of people served to over five thousand. The primary goal of Vision Loss Resources is to assist the independent living of persons affected with impairment and steer them into resources that will improve the quality of their lives. Unity Church member Ellen Morrow has been closely involved with Vision Loss Resources. Several Unity Church members have benefited from this service.

August 23 — Amicus

Amicus is the community outreach partner of the Unity Church Restorative Justice Ministry Team. For over 42 years through innovative programming, Amicus has helped inmates and ex-offenders reshape their lives, reach their goals and make a successful transition from prison into the community. Amicus is also working successfully with girls involved in the juvenile justice system. All of the programs are relationship-based, community-driven, culturally specific and outcome oriented. Longtime Unity Church member Louise Wolfgramm has served as president of Amicus since its beginning and church member Steve Nelson is the Director of Communication. Amicus is needed more than ever these days as ex-offenders look for housing and work in the face of recession. As one recent client said about Amicus, "When I was feeling bad they always reached out for me... they told me to 'hold on'. There's something out there for you."

August 30 — Neighborhood House Foodshelf

The Neighborhood House Food shelf, one of the state's largest, is not just about giving away food to the hungry — as important as that is in these times — but also asks patrons to meet with intake workers who assess the reasons for the person's reliance on the food shelf and then make referrals to resources that address those reasons. Neighborhood House is a multi-cultural, multi-lingual center committed to the success of refugees, immigrants, youth and its local community. Unity member Sally Scoggin currently serves on the board of directors and Andrea Bond just completed two terms on the board. Unity's ties to this organization began over 100 years ago when the minister at Unity Church served as president of the Neighborhood House board of directors.

Heart to Heart

A Couples Enrichment Weekend • November 6-7-8, 2009

Heart to Heart is a program designed to enrich communication and intimacy in your relationship. This will be our 15th annual retreat. All couples committed to their partners and to their relationships are welcome — same-sex and opposite-sex, married and unmarried. Space is limited, so register early.

For more information, visit the Heart to Heart website at <http://heart.mn.cx> or call Laurel and Eric Lein at 651-227-0486.

August/September Parish Hall Artist

Betsy Miller

Betsy Miller, new to the ranks of exhibiting photographers, shows an eye for nature's simple patterns. Miller's images are meant to provide an island of calm in today's chaotic world. She finds inspiration in her surroundings, be they natural, architectural, or human. Finding beauty in the mundane is a central theme of her work. Miller often uses a soft focus to create photographs that are reminiscent of paintings. Each situation is unique, and she changes her artistic process to optimize the visual potential of her varying subjects.

LIBRARIES / BOOK CLUB / LITERARY MINISTRY

What's New on the Unity Library Team

Geneste M. Anderson Adult Library • Bookstall
Elizabeth M. Whitman Children's Library • Bookmobile
New! Literary Journal Team

Attention All Writers and Artists!

Planning has begun for the first ever Unity Church literary journal, with the first edition to be published this fall. A literary journal committee is being formed under the auspices of the Library Team. Submissions for the journal may be made by Unity Church members, sustaining friends, staff, and their children. Writing may include poetry, memoirs, reflections, essays, and Unitarian Universalist history. All writing topics are welcomed for consideration. Writings on this fall's monthly themes of vocation and pilgrimage are especially encouraged. Art work may be photographs, sketches, drawings, or paintings to be printed in the journal in black and white, or for the cover which will be printed in color. It is anticipated that the journal will be published twice a year.

Start thinking now about what you would like to submit. Additional details will be printed in the September newsletter. For more information, please contact Jean Olson.

Integrity, Service and Joy in the Library

Everybody can be great... because anybody can serve... You don't have to make your subject and verb agree to serve. You only need a heart full of grace. — Martin Luther King, Jr.

Sometimes, we UU's talk about integrity, service, and joy as if they are unrelated, accessed through three divergent avenues. But considering service, aren't they inextricably linked? Freely given and unconditional service is honest and moral, and beckons joy.

The Unity Library Team offers an ever increasing variety of opportunities for service. In addition to managing the Anderson and Whitman Children's libraries, two years ago the team took on operation of the Bookstall, inaugurated the Unity Bookmobile, and created a library-quality online catalog. Last year, we launched an author series which culminated in Café Unity, the first poetry and music coffeehouse held at Unity. In the new year just around the corner, the Literary Journal Committee will assemble "in collaboration with the gifts of grace" to produce a magazine of spiritual art and thought.

Providing Unity Church with these services and the excellent book collection requires volunteers. Whether you only have an hour to spare after morning services once or twice a month, have more time for projects and book events, or have a poem or photo to share, the Unity Library Team needs your heart full of grace. Please consider lending a hand; contact Louise Merriam, Steve Nelson, or Shelley Butler to find out more about how you can help. Thank you.

Unity Church Book Club Update

This Book Club is open to all!

The Unity Church Book Club will meet from 7:00-8:30 p.m. on Tuesday, August 11. The book they will be discussing is Blue Sweater by Jacqueline Novogratz. Each book has a "sponsor" who begins the meeting by presenting a bit about the author and the book. This discussion will be led by Mary Bjork.

The Book Club will also meet on Tuesday, September 8 from 7:00-8:30 p.m. The book they will be discussing is The Guernsey Literary and Potato Peel Pie Society by Mary Ann Shaffer. The discussion will be led by Terri Hawthorne.

Literary Ministry

Unity Church's literary ministry, which will resume in September, offers guided writing sessions on monthly worship themes as well as meditations on the themes, shared in worship and in this newsletter. The meditations are available online at www.unityunitarian.org/MonthlyThemeResources.htm. If you would like to receive e-mail notifications of upcoming literary programs and invitations for member writings, please contact Assistant Literary Minister Karen Hering at karen@unityunitarian.org. These programs are supported by a grant from the Fund for Unitarian Universalism.

Poetic Tools for Change

A Nicaraguan Literary Tour

February 16–24, 2010

The dates have now been set for the nine-day Nicaraguan literary tour led by the Unity Church assistant literary minister next winter. You are invited to travel to a place where it is said "everyone's a poet until proven otherwise." Meet with Nicaraguan writers of all ages and learn how poetry and literature have historically provided a language of empowerment and hope and a voice for political change. Explore the hard questions of how people and poetry struggle to survive in the second poorest nation in our hemisphere. Join visitors from around the world attending part of the Sixth Annual International Poetry Festival in the city of Granada, and meet fellow tour companions from across the U.S. drawn to the power of poetry for creating a more just and peaceful world. The tour is organized by the Center for Global Education at Augsburg College and co-sponsored by Unity Church, The Loft Literary Center, Curbstone Press and Project Minnesota-Leon. For information contact Karen Hering at karen@unityunitarian.org.

WELCOME NEW MEMBERS

Karyn, Barbara, Jhon, Betsey, Michelle

Shannon, Jon, Teresa, Joni, Suzann, Kristin

Katie, Tim, Garl, Judy, Sue, Bob

Vicki, Kinsey, Aura Lee, Mary Jo, Mike

Judy and Garl Rieke

Judy Rieke and Garl Rieke recently moved to St. Paul from Grand Forks, ND, where they belonged to the Grand Forks Unitarian Universalist Fellowship for 17 years. They also have belonged to UU churches in Nashville, TN, and College Station, TX. Judy is semi-retired from the University of North Dakota Library of the Health Sciences, but doing some online-work with UND library and the National Library of Medicine. Judy enjoys gardening, swimming, reading, and exploring her new surroundings in St. Paul. Garl is fully retired from the Dept. of Anatomy and Cell Biology at the University of North Dakota and enjoys fishing, reading, home repair work, and also exploring St. Paul. They look forward to enriching their lives further through involvement with Unity Church.

Barbara Berdahl

My husband and I moved to St. Paul in 2001 and discovered Unity in 2003. I wanted to become a part of a community with shared values that would embrace and teach my children, Lucie and Ellie. Whatever our mood is coming to church on Sunday, it is always greatly improved when we leave. Coming here makes us happy and I look forward to many more happy and fulfilling Sundays.

Nancy Onkka

I've attended Unity since my daughters, Lea and Rae Green, started RE in third grade. They're juniors in college, so it's time to join! I value Unity's emphasis on acting on our values in service to the community.

Karyn Wrenshall

I was raised on the East Coast in a home where art and science were good companions. My parents helped found the Unitarian Universalist church in Garden City, NY. My joy is working with children! I've been a drama teacher for 24 years in St. Paul, presently working at Linwood Monroe Arts Plus. I'm a proud member of Unity Choir and Unity Singers. Other favorite things are my garden, photography and a rascally black lab named Sasha. Some experiences that shaped me: loving and liberal parents and 3 years in the Peace Corps/Philippines. Future projects: looking ahead to an active and meaningful retirement.

WELCOME NEW MEMBERS

Jhon Wlaschin

I am finishing a PhD in social psychology at the U of M. I find it interesting how relationships affect health behavior such as diet and exercise. I am passionate about music and sports. Enjoying cooking and gardening. I hope to find work in health field after I finish my dissertation. I want to continue to explore ways to help people connect with others and lead healthier lives. I feel this church will help me connect with others who are committed to serving others and building a rich and diverse community.

Betsey Kershaw

I am a self-employed creative marketing professional residing in St. Paul. I moved to the Twin Cities seven years ago from New York City with my husband Jhon and two daughters, Ruby and Dama. I am currently transitioning professionally from corporate life to building my own small business, allowing me to spend more time with my family and community. Joining Unity has been a big part of my "transition" plan, making room for what really matters and getting to know my neighbors. We love coming to Unity on Sundays and volunteering for Project Home – our whole family is so thankful to have finally found a spiritual community that aligns with our beliefs.

Vicki Stewart

I am enjoying the connections I am finding at Unity – where I have felt an unexpected sense of coming home spiritually – a place where I can refill the well in a community of acceptance of who I am, that matches my values and sense of what spirituality is. And not just for me but for my daughter as well. I live in St. Paul with my partner Mike and our daughter Kinsey.

Jon Sexe

I live on the East side of St. Paul by Lake Phalen with my wife Shannon and our son Joseph. I currently work in downtown Minneapolis doing web design and development. In my free time, I enjoy running, basketball and watching Twins games. My main reason for joining Unity Church is that it is a calming influence on a somewhat crazy and chaotic workweek.

Shannon Sexe

I'm the mom of a very vibrant 14-month-old boy, Joseph. I work for McNally Smith College of Music in the records office where you'll see me at my desk each morning sipping a wholesome cup of loose leaf green tea. I love taking walks outside, running, riding my bike and yoga. I'm looking forward to finding more ways to incorporate these activities into my life now that my baby is getting older. Being a member of Unity Church fulfills me in ways I hadn't expected. I love the community of people that support this church and I'm happy to now consider myself one of them.

Suzann Eisenberg Murray

Suzann is a founding partner of the Dendros Group, LLC, a dynamic St. Paul-based consulting firm providing capacity building, executive transition management, strategic planning and leadership to nonprofit, government and private corporations and collaborations. She also is a founding director of a social innovations incubator, GoodWork, Inc. Suzann resides in St. Paul with her cat, Miss Kitty. She is committed to building resilient communities by developing local business and social solutions that will provide long-term sustainability for children, families and elders. Her interests and hobbies include reading, journaling, exercise, gardening, cooking, entertaining and meditation. A widow for several years, she also volunteers time and energy to supporting others in grief and life transitions. She is really happy to have found this spiritual home.

Katie and Tim Parke-Reimer

It was love at first waltz when we met at the Tapestry Folkdance Center twelve years ago. We live and work in St. Paul, Katie as a freelance illustrator, Tim as a junior high English teacher. Katie loves to sew and read (especially books for teens). Tim dabbles at the piano and the guitar and loves to sing. Our daughters Lana (9) and Celeste (7) enjoy participating in sports and creating things. As a family, we spend a lot of time preparing and enjoying food, playing outside, and caring for our two rescue mutts. The kids enjoy participating in RE and choir and we are all glad to have found a home in Unity's nurturing community.

Joni Redfern-Hall

I live in south Minneapolis with my partner, Theresa, of 21 years, our three kids Sophia (13), Zane (11), and Zoe (9) and a menagerie of pets. I have been a nurse for the past 28 years. We home school our kids and I love learning with them. I am currently working on my Masters Degree in Nursing Leadership. My hobbies are knitting (mostly socks), working in the garden and camping with the family.

Theresa Redfern-Hall

Originally from Southern Indiana aka the "deep south," my partner, Joni and I moved to Minnesota in 1991. We have three fabulous children: Sophia, Zane, and Zoe whom we homeschool. Prior to having children, I spent many years advocating for women and children experiencing domestic violence. These days I spend my time teaching, researching family genealogy, gardening and embarrassing my teenage daughter. I live in South Minneapolis with my partner, kids, two HUGE dogs, one cat and two guinea pigs.

Mike Huber and Mary Jo Nikolai

Mike Huber and Mary Jo Nikolai are thrilled to be members of Unity. They have a daughter Johanna who is five years old. Mary Jo is an art teacher in Richfield. She is also a puppet and parade artist. She builds puppets and sets for In the Heart of the Beast Theatre among others. Mike is a preschool teacher in Minneapolis. He is also a storyteller and musician. His stories regularly appear on the Rainbow Rumpus website. Mary Jo and Mike also create puppet shows together. They have performed together at In the Heart of the Beast, the Minneapolis Institute of Arts and the Minnesota Children's Museum.

Michelle Vanden Plas

Michelle Vanden Plas is happy to find the spiritual community she has been searching for at Unity Church. She is an English as a Second Language teacher at Fair Oaks Elementary in Brooklyn Park. However, her primary work is being a single mom to two beautiful children, Zoe (7) and Santiago (4). In her not-so-plentiful free time, Michelle loves to read, bike, camp, and commune with nature.

Walking Home

A Benefit for The Family Place

Join other Unity Church members in "Walking Home," a fundraiser for the Family Place on August 15, from noon until 3:00 p.m. Located in downtown St. Paul, Family Place serves the same homeless families during the day who are evening guests of Unity Church during the month of May through Project Home.

The walk will take place through downtown St. Paul to a series of locations these families visit for needed services during their time of homelessness. For more information, contact Pat Haff at the Church Office or Romeyn Taylor at 612-374-4517.
