

The Hero's Journey: Humanity's Monomyth

Departure

1. Call to Adventure – We see the hero in their “hut,” their too-boring, too-small life. Then something happens that calls, persuades, tricks, or forces the hero to set out on an adventure.
2. Refusal of the Call – The hero, out of fear or duty to home, says, “No way.”
3. Supernatural Mentor – Once the hero says “yes” to adventure, a wise and powerful mentor appears with instructions and (sometimes) magical objects to help along the way.
4. Crossing of the First Threshold – This is the point when the hero really steps into a new and unfamiliar world, leaving their old world behind.
5. Belly of the Beast – This is the first big trouble, the real separation from the person the hero used to be. Usually the hero is trapped inside something, risks or experiences death, and then emerges on the other side.

Initiation

6. Road of Trials – A series of tests, usually in groups of three, confront the hero. Often the hero fails at least one of the tasks.
7. Meeting With the Goddess – At the darkest, lowest point in the hero's confidence, a female figure comes and nurtures the hero as a mother.
8. Temptation – Something, often a beautiful woman or luxurious situation, threatens to throw the hero off track.
9. Atonement with the Father – The hero often has to confront the relationship with a source of power/authority/father-figure (sometimes, the source of the hero's one fatal flaw) and reconcile that relationship.
10. Apotheosis (high, turning point of story) – The hero experiences a period of rest and fulfillment.
11. Ultimate Prize – The hero achieves the goal of the whole journey (gets the object, rescues the princess, conquers the enemy).

Return

12. Refusal of the Return – The hero has a moment when it doesn't seem like a good idea to take the prize back to the regular world.
13. Magic Flight – Sometimes, the journey home is just as amazing as the quest.
14. Rescue from Without – If the hero is wounded or changed by the quest, sometimes a helper comes to guide the hero home.
15. Crossing of the Return Threshold – The hero returns home and has to figure out how to incorporate all s/he has experienced back into regular life and not get depressed/bored.
16. Master of Two Worlds – If the hero has achieved a spiritual enlightenment, both inner and outer worlds (or heaven and earth) are within control.
17. Freedom to Live – The hero has learned enough about life and self to not fear death and live fully in the moment.
