About the Worship Leader

Jenny Wilson has been a member of Unity Church since 1995. She is a clinical social worker and lives in the Hamline Midway neighborhood with her husband Ty and their two children, Rachel and Louis. She loves to sing, garden and spend time on the front stoop with her neighbors. Jenny recently joined Family Circle Counseling, an attachment-oriented psychotherapy practice in St. Paul, and will begin work at the Center for Grief, Loss and Transition later this fall.

About the Worship Associate

Dutton Foster taught secondary school English and drama for forty-three years, including Shakespeare courses. He directed over a hundred plays and musicals for high school and community theater, as well as designing and building sets for an even greater number. He and his wife Caroline were married by Arthur Foote in the chapel in 1963, because the sanctuary was unusable after the fire. Because they lived in Ohio and then in Colorado for the following twenty-two years, the next time they connected with Unity Church was in 1985, after their move back to St. Paul to rejoin their extended families. Dutton finds his experience as a Worship Associate has offered wonderful opportunities to learn while serving.

About the Offering Recipient

Northwest Youth and Family Services (NYFS) is a nonprofit social service and mental health agency serving residents of northern and southern Ramsey county since 1976. Its mission is to prepare youth and families for healthy lives, touching over 4,000 individuals annually. NYFS provides a mental health outpatient clinic, several educational and support groups, and general community social service functions for several metro communities. NYFS offers one-to-one support programs for individuals in need, from mental health counseling to chore services for senior citizens who want to live independently. Unity Church members Mark and Cynthia Stange have been active in several aspects of NYFS over the years with Mark currently serving on the development committee.

About the Musicians

Sunita Staneslow has a long connection with Unity Church. Her parents, Olly and Paul, have been members for over forty years. Exactly eleven years ago, Sunita moved to Israel with her husband and two kids. They live in the town of Kfar Saba, near Tel Aviv where Sunita is a free-lance harpist with a passion for Jewish and Celtic music. She is also a founding member of the non-profit Nevel Yerushalayim, The Jerusalem Harp Network. Their Tiferet program brings harp music to the bedside of patients in hospitals and hospices in Israel. Sunita has been part of several studies in the NICU at Meir Hospital and was hired as a harp therapist by the Schneider Children's Hospital in Petah Tikvah. Recordings of her music will be for sale after the service in the Parish Hall. Sunita will be performing this evening in a large treehouse in Stillwater. Visit her at the CD table for more information.

Kathleen Bartholomay is a member of Unity Church where she has served as Summer Music Coordinator for 14 years. She has a B.A. in music from Pacific Lutheran University in Tacoma, Washington, and an M.M. degree from University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Her latest adventure has been exploring the world of improv (acting).
